MANIPULATORS OF COTTON MARKET ARE INDICTED

New York, June 18.—The government has come out in the open in its attempt to prove that manipulating the cotton market is against the law. James A. Fatten, of Chicago, and seven lesser figures in the speculative field have been indicted charged with conspiracy in restraint of trade under the Sherman anti-trust law.

The indictment was returned by a special federal grand jury late yesterday and handed up before Judge Sirogh in the United States circuit court.

When the indictments were announced, there was an excited break on the New York cotton exchange. The hall leaders, however, appeared undisturbed by the government's action and by their buying orders helped to rally prices during the last few minutes.

Five counts are embraced in the indictment, but the real charge is the one charging that the "defendants unlawfully did conspire with certain corporations not herein indicted, to defraud arbitrary, excessive and monopolistic prices for cotton."

Oppose Denatured Bill.
Denver, Colo., June 18.—According to Chas. H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, who, with Thomas C. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, leaves for Washington tomorrow at the head of a joint committee from the two organizations to present applications for affiliation with the American Federation of Labor, an effort will be made to induce the federation of labor to undergo active opposition to the bill recently passed by the house creating a bureau of mines. Opposition of the miners' unions, Moyer declared, is the result of the adoption of section 5, which takes from the director of the bureau power to establish more stringent rules for the protection of miners from physical injury.

Of Sweltering All Summer and Freezing All Winter

When You Can Live in a Place With a Climate Like SAN DIEGO?

Where the flowers bloom the year round, where 'tis never too hot nor too cold, where you can with comfort go in swimming every day in the year, where the same weight of clothing and underwear may be worn throughout the twelve months, where you can see something beautiful everywhere you look, where palms and pampas grass, honeysuckle and roses, magnolias and orange blossoms, climbing vines and magnificent lawns gladden the eye at every turn—WHAT'S THE USE OF LIVING if you've got to starve for the want of something beautiful to look at—what good is your money if you cannot have fresh fruit, fine berries, melons and everything else that's good every time YOU WANT THEM?

IN SAN DIEGO you can have the best of everything that grows, every day in the year, and at a less price than in any other city in the west. MONEY IS AS DROSS if you cannot have the comforts it will buy. If you are satisfied to stay where you are, that's your business. If you want something different, near the ocean, in the Paradise of the West, that's our business. Come and talk it over with us—we're here to tell you. Live while you may, and in San Diego if you can, and remember, that WHEN YOU'RE DEAD, YOU'RE A LONG TIME DEAD—then what's the good of your money? See our exhibit—it's free.
